

Contagious COMMUNICATION™

Tired of asking “make sense”? Struggling with why they don’t “get it”? With the Contagious Communication™ training program, your communication flows better, feels better and actually gets your direction understood so that it sticks longer and things get done!

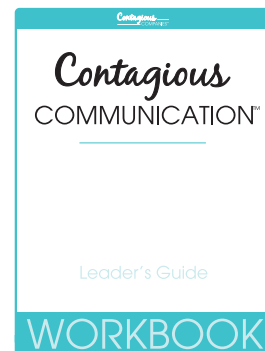

This course is ideal for team members consistently struggling with miscommunication, misunderstanding, and the conflict or performance failure that arises from both.

What's in the course?

- How to modify your communication style so everyone understands.
- How to communicate with difficult people.
- How to motivate team members with a completely different personality.
- How to more effectively talk to yourself.
- The impact of stress on your communication.
- How to remove annoying and habitual speech patterns.
- How to facilitate smooth communication between the leader and team members.
- How to be understood more effectively by almost anyone you work with, lead, live with, or sell to.

Available as a Full Day or Half Day Course

Contagious Communication™ is the training course that helps you get them to do what you want them to do. Plain and simple, it’s about you getting your message across. This training course will teach you and your leaders how to communicate in a language others understand, without conflict, and with far less confusion.
