

Contagious LEADERSHIP™

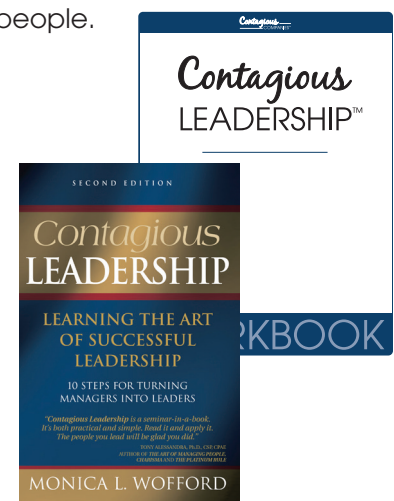

Wondering what to do after you've been promoted? Not sure what to do with them after you've given them the job? The Contagious Leadership™ training program is a must for managers. In fact, it teaches managers to be leaders in ten simple steps, even if one was promoted, but not prepared.

What's in the course?

- Creating a leadership strategic plan of action.
- Communicating your leadership direction more effectively.
- How to address, discipline, or coach performance and behavior issues?
- Effective handling of an attitude problem.
- How and when to micromanage versus delegate and to whom?
- Encouraging meaningful mistakes and increasing rapid employee development.
- Managing the "voices in your head" and levels of confidence and self-esteem.
- Listening better when communicating expectations, goals, and vision.
- How to stop habitual behaviors that get you into trouble when leading people.
- Developing potential in even the most difficult employee.
- Managing time and tasks in a way that increases productivity
- 10 ways to quickly transition from a mere manager to a well-respected leader.

Available as a Full Day or Half Day Course

Contagious Leadership™ is the flagship course that lays the foundation for learning real leadership applied to daily work. Based on the book, Contagious Leadership, by Monica Wofford, CSP, this course will help your managers produce more results in their own role, while developing employees who stay longer, produce more, complain less, and are part of the succession plan.
